Challenges under Global Perspective

- Systematic approaches towards global challenges
- Various range of discussion: from the roots of poverty to the global climate adaptation measures
- International counselors, guest speakers, and workshop leaders

Multiple and diverse learning scenarios

- Experiential learning: simulation with high degree of reality to emphasize with those under the impact of challenges
- Scientific-knowledge-based debate and study: for more comprehensive evaluation on the relationship between various challenges threatening sustainable development

Real-life workshops

- Led by true experts in their domain and fields
- Designed to best re-assemble the real-life practice on each project
- Aiming to focus on only the most realistic and urgent world issues

Activity Highlights

City Challenge

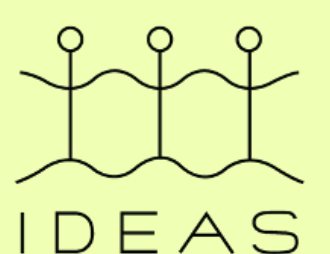

Embark on a thrilling adventure through Changshu City, where campers delve into local culture, visit iconic sites, and gather inspiration for innovative projects. Guided by workshop leaders and counselors, they organize their newfound knowledge for creative pursuits ahead.

Poverty Simulation

Step into the shoes of those facing poverty, gaining empathy and understanding through our transformative simulation. Campers may explore the power dynamics and structures that perpetuate inequality, empowering them to envision meaningful changes for a more inclusive society.

Climate Collage

Originated from the Climate Fresk concept, campers will embark on a quest to match 42 cards in a cause-effect sequence. With scientific facts on the back of each card, campers will work to reveal the interconnectedness of our climate phenomena.

U-MOTION WORKSHOPS

Architectural Heritage and Innovation

In the realm of "traditional fashion," how can we perceive and preserve the survival value of ancient buildings, while also creatively developing them?

Campers will explore the historical, design aesthetic, and urban planning aspects of ancient buildings. The ultimate objective is to amplify the influence of these architectural treasures in contemporary society through innovative approaches.

Mika Woll

Finnish Architect and co-founder of m⁵ Architects

Received the prestigious RedDot award for his remarkable work on the Wuyuan Skywell project.

Theatre Performance

As we navigate the cycle of developing multiple identities, the fundamental question arises: Who am "I"? How do I grow, change, and maintain balance amidst these identities?

Campers will embark on a journey of self-discovery, exploring the concept of "bodymind". They will delve into introspection, building trust and cooperation within the group. By embracing their authentic selves, campers will find joy in facing a more self-aware and genuine "I".

Sujie Zhu

Independent performer and actress based in Shanghai

She holds a theater and cultural anthropology degree from Colby College, and is complemented by her cross-cultural improvisation and research conducted in Japan, Chile, and Europe through the Thomas J. Watson Fellowship.

Installation Art

In Changshu, East China's leading garment design and production hub, the issue of excessive industrial waste poses a significant challenge to sustainable development.

In the "Installation Art Workshop," campers will explore the garment industry, study innovative recycling initiatives, delve into contemporary visual art thinking, and receive an introduction to the captivating world of installation art.

Chien Ying Wu

Accomplished artist, curator, and educator

Graduated from the Ecole Supérieure des Beaux-Arts, served as the Vice President of the School of Art and Design at the Eurasian University, and has dedicated himself to promoting art and design education for youth worldwide
